CONDITIONS OF SALE.

- I. The highest bidder to be the buyer. If any dispute arise the Auctioneer shall have absolute discretion to settle it; and to put any disputed lot up again.
- II. No person to advance less than 1s.; above five pounds 2s. 6d.; and so on in proportion.
- III. All lots are sold subject to the right of the seller or his agent to bid, or else to impose a reserve.
- IV. The purchasers to give in their names and places of abode, and to pay down 10s. in the pound, if required, in part payment of the purchase-money, in default of which the lot or lots purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.
- V. The lots to be taken away, at the buyer's expense, immediately after the conclusion of the sale; in default of which Messrs. SOTHEBY & Co. will not hold themselves responsible if lost, stolen, damaged or otherwise destroyed, but they will be left at the sole risk of the purchaser. If, at the expiration of ONE WEEK after the conclusion of the sale, the books or other property are not cleared or paid for, they will then be catalogued for immediate sale, and the expenses, the same as if re-sold, will be added to the amount at which the books were bought. Messrs. SOTHEBY & Co. will have the option of re-selling the lots uncleared, either by public or private sale, without any notice being given to the defaulter.
- VI. All the books are presumed to be perfect, unless otherwise expressed; but if, upon collating, any should prove defective, the purchaser will be at liberty to take or reject them, provided they are received back within FOURTEEN DAYS after the conclusion of the sale, when the purchase-money will be returned.
- VII. The sale of any book or books is not to be set aside on account of any worm-holes, stained or short leaves of text or plates, want of list of plates or blank leaves, or on account of the publication of any subsequent volume, supplement, appendix, or plates. All the manuscripts, autographs, all magazines and reviews, all books in lots, and all tracts in lots or volumes, will be sold with all faults, imperfections and errors of description. The sale of any illustrated book, lot of prints or drawings, is not to be set aside on account of any error in the enumeration of the numbers stated, or error of description.
- VIII. No Imperfect Book will be taken back, unless a note accompanies each book, stating its imperfections, with the number of lot and date of the sale at which the same was purchased.
- IX. To prevent inaccuracy in the delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the purchases, no lot can on any account be removed during the time of sale.
- X. Upon failure of complying with the above conditions, the money required and deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; and if any loss is sustained in the re-selling of such lots as are not cleared or paid for, all charges on such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulters at this sale.

Messrs. SOTHEBY & CO. are prepared to execute bids, and in addition to advise intending purchasers as far as possible, if requested by them to do so, without making any charge for either service. Lots will be procured as cheaply as is permitted by other bids or reserves, if any.

[GRANDSON OF THE ADDRESSEE OF DR. ARNOLD'S LETTERS.]

ARNOLD (Dr. J.), Surgeon in the Navy, F.L.S. etc. noted Naturalist. Auto. Journal from August, 1810 to Decr. 1815, upwards of 500 pp. 8vo, half bound:

This interesting record commences with a day by day account of a voyage from Australia to England; they fall in with an American vessel, present them with two large pigs, two or three bags of potatoes and a large cheese. On arriving in London Dr. Arnold dines with Governor Bligh and throughout the diary he expresses a strong bias in favour of Bligh. He goes to Haslar and expresses bitter criticism against the excessive and indiscriminate bleeding of the patients. He visits Guy's Hospital Medical Society and hears a hot debate on the function of the spleen.

From March 1815 the diary commences with Dr. Arnold as medical Officer on a convict ship bound for Port Jackson. When only six days out from Rio, it is feared that the supply of bread for the convicts will not hold out. The Newgate convicts are served out with 2 suits of clothes—a gift of the Sheriffs of London. They reach Port Jackson on June 18th. He calls on Governor Macquarrie but is received with coldness, but elsewhere he is accorded a good welcome.

My reception from the Governor was cold and disgusting and equally frigid from Mrs. Macquarrie, both of whom I knew well when they arrived at this place. My reception from other persons was flattering and agreeable.

The State of society is very prosperous at present in Sydney. The Governor admits convicts to his table, & the Officers of the 46th do not. The Governor admits convicts to ye highest office, and seems to despise those persons who hold respectable situations not of his appointment. I myself was rather ashamed of being a guest at Mr. Redfern's table, although he is rich and a great friend of the Governors. The Colony appears to me to be really in a state of dissatisfaction Governor Macquarrie is hardly acceptable to anyone. I suppose the prime reason is that he appoints convicts to the most respectable offices and rejects the respectable settler. Two of the Magistrates at Sydney, Darcy Wentworth Esq. and W. Lord Esq. are convicts. The postmaster (Nickols) is a convict. Mr. Wentworth—Surgeon General was sent out on account of some highway robberies . . .

There are some twenty pages devoted to his impressions of life in Sydney

 This fascinating Manuscript concludes with a very full description of a two month's stay in Java; loosely inserted are water-colour sketches by Dr. Arnold of Coast of New Holland about Cape York and a view of Goza.

This Diary is mentioned by Dawson Turner in his Memoir of Joseph Arnold, and beyond a short quotation is believed to be unpublished.

ARNOLD (Dr. Joseph), F.L.S., Surgeon in the Royal Navy, noted Naturalist. An interesting series of 19 A. L. s. 1812-14, written to his brother from H.M.S. Alcmene:

Describing the blockade of Corfu by the English Fleet, and gives a description of the Island; and of Lissa; From Port Mahon in August and October 1813, he describes the ravages of the Plague in Malta and says the King of Sardinia forbids the English from landing in Minorca, owing to the taking of an American vessel that was going into the Bay of Cagliari under the protection of a Sardinian Man o' war, for "though we are at war with America the Sardinians are not." An interesting letter from H.M.S. Hibernia, Mahon Harbour, Dec. 1813 describes Captain Coglan as one of the most violent men in the service and one of the greatest fighters. Is now serving under Capt. Brace also a great fighter but often takes his ship under French batteries and loses many men "So that it would be a sad mistake if a shot should come too near me, with two Letters written in H.M.S. America, 1814

From the transport Northampton at Rio de Janeiro, March, 1914, he says:

This place is very large & things tolerably cheap, with great quantities of fruit as never are seen in England. We can buy fine apples for two pence each. We expect to leave this place about the 15th. of March and shall not touch at any place till we arrive at Botany Bay.

AUSTRALIA. Two remarkable A. L. s. from Dr. Joseph Arnold, written from Sidney Cove in February and March, 1810, 19 pp. folio (one page defective):

He commences with a dramatic story of the privations of the voyage from the Cape to Botany Bay.

On our arrival we found that the deposed Governor Bligh was at sea, and Governor McQuarrie took charge of his dominions amidst the firing of guns splendid illuminations etc., about a month afterwards Commodore Bligh arrived . . . the people here are divided into two parties, viz. those who supported Bligh's Government & and those who opposed it which possess ye greater power and numbers.

Bligh is hated wherever he goes and people who dare hoot him, he however retains the honours of a Governor as long as he remains here. The officers of the 102nd. are at great enmity with him & he intends to hang some of them for rebellion & mutiny . . . Governor McQuarrie & his lady are both Scotch & consequently close fisted . . . he keeps a shabby table. Some of the convicts, their time having expired are now very rich . . . Mr. Wentworth who was highwayman, is now Surgeon-General of the Colony & is said to be worth, £30,000 ready cash. Wentworth bought 4000 gallons of Rum in Rio Janeiro at 2/- a gallon and sold it here at the enormous price of 8 & 10£ a gallon.

Dr. Arnold in his second letter, of some 14 pp. goes into the case of Governor Bligh very fully and for whom he displays a good deal of sympathy; he gives a full and descriptive account of Sydney and describes at length a visit to Paramata and Green Hills

- 126 WOOL TRADE in the 17th Century. Fifteen Doc. s. relating to Woollen Manufacture, the Exportation of Wool and Excise Duties upon Wool, comprising: Draft of the Petition to Parliament upon "the Manufactory of Wool," 2 pp. folio, 1675 :

Stating that it is "the principal Subsistance of England." The touch of itt used to bee esteemed as the Apple of their Eye. Most of the Countryes whence wea have our Lynnen have of late tymes applied themselves to manufactur Wool. Wherefore the same Laws against planting Tobacco in England, reserving the Trade with our plantations in America, prohibiting transport of wool to any foreign parts may not well urge the restraint of such manufacture of Wool in Ireland. Suggests the manufacture of "Hempe and flax" instead.

Second Draft of the Petition to Parliament from which the

- 128 WALPOLE (Horace) COLLECTION OF A. L. S. MANUSCRIPTS, BOOKS, ETC. Auto. Manuscript signed "Extracts from the Diary of Edward, Earl of Sandwich," 28 pp. 4to, 1762, endorsed by Walpole "Extracts (some being very curious) from ten volumes of original Manuscripts, being the Diary of Admiral Edward Earl of Sandwich, lent to me by his Descendant John Earl of Sandwich" :

Gives accounts of the most important social and historical incidents during 1664 and 1670; the dissolution of Parliament, held to be the error of Richard Cromwell's government; an offer of £20,000. a year to be settled on Monck (afterwards Duke of Albemarle) if he "stick to Richard Cromwell"; the probability of war with Sweden; the Marriage of Charles II and Catherine of Braganza, their ultimate disagreements and quarrels; proposed attempt to be made against the Dutch fleet at Texel, under de Ruyter, suggested by Sandwich and Prince Rupert; description of the engagement at Solebay when Sandwich captured several Dutch vessels; the peace between England and Spain, the treaty of France with Portugal, and the alliance of Charles II with France; the anxiety of Anne of Austria, when dying, that war might arise between her brother and her son Louis XIV, about a part of the Spanish Netherlands; Rochester, offended by a remark made by Thomas Killigrew, boxed his ears at a dinner party in the King's presence, but this breach of etiquette was overlooked by Charles II. References to the common practise of caricaturing famous men and women on the stage; John Dryden and Ben Jonson's "Cataline" in connection with this practice, citing the incident of Sir William Coventry, who when informed that the Duke of Buckingham and Sir Robert Howard were contemplating a caricature of him on the stage, sent a challenge to the Duke. Coventry was sent to the Tower, and at the same time excluded from the Privy Council and the Treasury. Etc.

A. L. s. to John Pinkerton, Berkeley Square, 22 Jan. 1787 :

. . . Has had no more success for him than he expected "yet from no want of application in Lady Di or me, as you will see by the Pontiff's letter . . . indeed I have no credit anywhere: how should I? I have never stooped to the means of acquiring it."

A. L. s. 2 pp. 4to, Strawberry Hill, 13 Sept. 1795 :

. . . Drench yourself thoroughly; wash away the seeds of your disorder, and conform to all the rules prescribed to the Drinkers of the Waters. Yr. body & mind too are very active, that I am sure you will but ill submit to such a tasteless insipid life as that of Bath . . . I certainly speak most disinterestedly when I preach idleness to you—at my great age I most anxiously wish to see your work completed . . . you say you expect Mr. Malone; Dutens, who implicitly believes in all & every one of 'Irelands' Shakespeariana, was here & told me that Mr. Malone is converted to them—but I don't believe all that a believer says . . . This Region is not a whit more amusing than Bath; Richmond is deserted—but if I spoke fairly, I should sum up all my grievances in the absence of the Berrys; the natives of Twickenham are neither worse nor better than they have been for years. My Wives tell me how very obliging yr brother has been to them . . . All attention seems at bay, gazing at what will be the event of that unparallel'd impudence of the French Convention which you mention, attempting to perpetuate themselves by force. It is so outrageous, that one hopes it will have some at least of the consequences it ought to have! When they have run every possible race of wickedness, barbarity & villainy. Etc.

- ~~139~~ NAPOLEON IN ITALY. JENKINS (Thos.) A. L. s. 3 pp. folio, Rome, 14 Aug. 1796, to Sir William Hamilton :

. . . The Pope having been reduced to the necessity of submitting to conditions the most Humiliating and Unjust, in the Armistice concluded with France, suggests representing to the Pope that we cannot view with indifference his Holiness' supplying the Common Enemy with money to continue the War after such protection as our Fleet has given to this Coast. Such a remonstrance would be in time to stop the Million sent off which is still at Rimini. By the probable liberation of the Austrian Army in Lombardy, it seems to be difficult for the French to come at this sum. Etc. Endorsed by Sir William: The Pope waiting to engage The Imp. Ancla. and me to give him a pretence to get back his money from Rimini

- (2) Auto. Postscript signed "N.B." 1 p. 4to, to a letter from Pietro Gamba to Mr. Barff, 27 January, 1824:

Dear Sir. The Turkish Fleet is on the look out—so that I request you to take care how you send me Specie—though we are in great want of it at present—for the Govt.—If a safe conveyance occurs let us see same . . . I will stick by the Cause as long as a cause exists first or second.

- (3) Auto. Postscript signed "N.B." $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4to, 11 February, 1824, to a letter from Gamba to Barff:

The Bearers—Mr. Fawke and Mr. Hodges are authorized to receive the balance to what amount may be ready from you or Mr. Hancock. I have also enclosed bills in England for a further sum of three thousand pounds in a letter to Mr. Hancock.

- (4) A. L. s. "N.B." $1\frac{1}{2}$ pp. 4to, Feby. 21, 1824, on the two last pages of a letter from Gamba to Barff:

I am a good deal better tho' of course weakly; the leeches took too much blood from my temples the day after and there was some difficulty in stopping it, but I have since been up daily and out in boats and on horseback; today I have taken a warm bath and live as temperately as can well be, without any liquid but water and without any animal food.

Besides the four Turks sent to Patras, I have obtained the release of four and twenty women and children, and sent them at my own expense to Prevesa that the English Consul may consign them to their relatives . . . Your cases of dollars arrived safely for Lega as stated . . . Will stand by the Cause as long as my health and circumstances will permit me to be supposed useful. N.B.

One or two words affected by sealing

- (5) L. s. "Noel Byron" 1 p. 4to, with Auto. Postscript, 3 lines, 23 Feby, 1824, concerning a draft by Colonel Stanhope on J. Bowring:

P.S. You will have received two or three letters and a packet which I sent yesterday by another opportunity.

- (6) A. L. s. "N.B." 2 pp. 4to, Feby. 21, 1824:

. . . My health seems improving especially from riding and the warm bath, but even if anything occurred you need not doubt that the bills will be duly paid, as my affairs are all properly arranged at home . . .

Six Englishmen will be soon in quarantine at Zante; they are artificers and have had enough of Greece in fourteen days . . . they are good men enough but not quite used to the little discrepancies in these Countries, and are not used to see shooting and slashing in a domestic quiet way, or (as it forms here) a part of housekeeping . . .

- (7) Auto. Postscript "N. Bn." on a letter of Gamba, Feby. 29, 1824:

This is a copy of a letter sent to Yusuff Pasha with four Turkish Prisoners released at my request. The other four and twenty were sent by me to Prevesa, with a letter for the English Consul General.

- (8) A VERY FINE A. L. s. "Noel Byron," 2 pp. 4to, March 5th, 1824:

If Sisseni is sincere he will be treated with—and well treated. If he is not the sin and the shame may lie at his own door. One great object is to heal those internal dissensions for the future without exacting too rigorous an account of the past. The Prince Mavrocordato is of the same opinion, and whoever is disposed to act fairly will be fairly dealt with.

I have heard a good deal of Sisseni but not a deal of Good: however I never judge from report, particularly in a revolution . . .

A LETTER OF REMARKABLE INTEREST.

- (9) L. s. "Noel Byron," with Auto. Postscript "N. Bn." $\frac{1}{2}$ p. 4to, 9th March, 1824, concerning bills of Prince Mavrocordato for £550

- (10) A. L. s. "N. Bn." 4 pp. 4to, March 10th, 1824:

Enclosed is an answer to Sig. Parruca's letter, and I hope that you will assure him further from me that I have done, and am doing all I can to reunite the Greeks . . .

We hear (as you do) of the Moslem preparations and must make the best fight that circumstances will permit . . . I cannot quit Greece while there is a chance of my being of any (even supposed utility)—there is a stake worth millions—such as I am and while I can stand at all I must stand by the Cause . . .

- (11) A. L. s. "N. Bn." $3\frac{1}{2}$ pp. 4to, March 19, 1824:

As Count Mercatti is under some apprehensions of a direct answer to him personally on Greek affairs, I reply (as you authorized me) to you who will have the goodness to communicate to him the enclosed. It is the joint answer of P. Mavrocordato and of myself to Sig. G. Visseni's propositions. You may also add, both to him and to Parrucca that I am perfectly sincere in desiring the most amicable termination of these internal dissensions . . . if Lord Guilford is at Zante . . . presenting my respects . . . would oblige me.

He goes on to discuss a proposed Greek newspaper and attacks Dr. Meyer. "Of all the petty tyrants, he is one of the pettiest, as are most demagogues that ever I knew. He is a Swiss by birth, and a Greek by assumption.

- (12) A superb A. L. s. "N. Bn." 7 pp. 4to, March 22, 1824:

Mr. Dunn has received in the course of my stay in Tuscany and the Genovese Territory some thousand dollars of mine, always paid without demur or delay, because I made it a rule to have no long accounts in Italy, however high the prices . . .

If the Greek deputies (as seems probable) have obtained the loan, the sums I have advanced may perhaps be repaid; but it would make no great difference, as I should still spend them in the Cause, and more to boot . . .

In a few days P. Mavrocordato and myself, with a considerable escort, intend to proceed to Salona at the request of Ulysses and the Chiefs of Eastern Greece, to concert if possible a plan of union between Western and Eastern Greece, and to take measures, offensive and defensive for the ensuing campaign . . .

- (13) A. L. s. "N. B." 7 pp. 4to, 26th March, 1824, concerning the Greek Loan, etc.

. . . The weather which has lately been equinoctial has flooded the Country, and will probably retard our proceedings to Salona for some days till the road becomes more practicable . . .

The Auxiliary Corps of about two hundred men, paid by me, are I believe the sole regularly and properly furnished with the money due to them weekly—and their officers monthly. It is true that the Greek Govt gives their rations, but we have had three mutinies, owing to the badness of the bread, which neither natives nor strangers could masticate (nor dogs either) and there is still great difficulty in obtaining them even provisions of any kind . . .

- (14) A. L. s. "N. Bn." 3 pp. 8vo, April 3rd, 1824 :

... We have the Turkish Squadron blockading the Port. A third Greek deputy, Sig. Zaimi, is in the town on his way to England and a quarrel (not yet settled) between the Citizens and some of Karaiskake's people, which has already produced some rows

I keep my people quite neutral, but have ordered them to be on their guard ...

- (15) A. L. s. "N. Bn." 2 pp. 4to, April 6, 1824 :

... Since I wrote we have had more tumult here with the Citizens and Karaiskake's people, and all are under arms, our boys and all; they nearly fired on me and fifty of my lads by mistake, as we were taking our usual excursion into the Country ...

- (16) Auto. Postscript "N. Bn." 1½ pp. 4to, 8 April, 1824, on a letter from Zambelli :

The Greeks here of the Govt. have been boring me for more money. As I have the Brigade to maintain and the Campaign is soon to open and I have already spent 59,000 dollars in three months upon them in one way or another, and more especially as their public loan has succeeded so that they ought not to draw from individuals at that rate, I have given them a refusal, and as they would not take that, another refusal in terms of considerable sincerity ...

- (17) A. L. s. "N. Bn." 2½ pp. 4to, April 9th, 1824, on the blank of a letter from Ransom & Co. of London :

... shall continue to draw directly on England as the safest (and perhaps least expensive method) instead of having dollars up from Genoa or Leghorn.

Of the copies on vellum recorded by M. Seymour de Ricci in his census, only two are in private hands (Duke of Devonshire and T. Fitzroy Fenwick).

Some copies of the "De Officiis" of 1465 and 1466 have been found to be mixed, the edition of 1465 containing some leaves from that of 1466 and vice versa, the confusion originating in the printers' office where in making up these "mixed" copies the sheets of the two editions were obviously used indiscriminately. The present copy is unmixed, and made up entirely of sheets of the 1466 edition.

PORARY AUTHORS including Spenser, Constable, Lodge, Daniel, Watson, Drayton, Davis, Marston, Marlowe, Jonson and others.

On sig. B 2 following William Shakespeare's name printed in full is the following passage :

“Who loues Adonis loue, or Lucre's rape,
His sweeter verse contains hard robbing life,
Could but a grauer subiect him content,
Without loues foolish languishment.”

And futher on “Why heres our fellow Shakespeare puts them all downe, I and Ben Ionson too . . .” Act iv. Sc. 2 is mainly a scene between the two celebrated actors Burbage and Kemp.

- 603 SHAW (G. B.) Man and Superman, PRESENTATION COPY to Violet Vanbrugh from the Author, with autograph inscription on the half-title, with a photograph, and with a 4 pp. A. L. s. written across the 8vo sheet, lightly attached to the fly-leaf, inviting Miss Vanbrugh to play the part of Ann, original cloth

8vo. 1903

 The letter is an exceptionally interesting one, dated Dec. 28th, 1903, Maybury Knoll, Woking :

. . . The part of Anne is no ordinary leading lady's business. Where is the person who can be this cat, this liar, this minx, this something for which I know no polite name . . . and yet be perfectly irresistible and perfectly dignified? You see that unless the lady is vital enough to reduce these abusive epithets to the most unreal moral clap-traps by simply living them down as a much more important and fascinating fact in nature, her own self, the play would be unbearable, etc.

604 TENNYSON (A. LORD) Poetical Works, limp roan, worn 1890

 This copy was presented to Miss Violet Vanbrugh by Tennyson shortly before his death and as he was too weak to write in it himself, Ellen Terry wrote the following inscription for him :
" 'Maid Marian' Vanbrugh from the Grandest Old Man.

 . . . If I have never yet written a good novel your essay should stimulate me to produce one without delay, and indeed will, in a measure . . . the worst work I have ever done has been written under the influence of stupidly adverse criticism.
 He goes on to state that his (Hardy's) father is one of the last of the old Master-Masons left, the modern builders and contractors having obliterated them . . .

A LETTER OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

- 613 WILDE (Oscar) Auto. MS. of his "Phrases and Philosophies for the Use of the Young," 2 pp. folio, with numerous auto. corrections, some of these "Phrases and Philosophies" are published in "The Picture of Dorian Gray" and "The Chameleon," the remainder are unpublished; A. L. s. "O. W." 4 pp. 8vo, n. d., to "My dear Carlos" (Blacker?):

The dreadful and grotesque way in which I am living cannot go on as it is doing. I have directed that my quarterly allowance of £37. 10s. is to be paid directly to Robbie Ross and that his receipt is to be a full discharge to the trustees of any claim of mine. This sum is properly due next week but may not be paid till July. In either case could you advance it to me, and Robbie will, on receipt of my quarter's allowance, send you the cheque. Concludes by saying that he (Carlos) is "the only old friend he has in Paris." Etc.

"The Chameleon," vol. I, no. 1 (rare, only 100 copies printed), Charles Kains-Jackson's copy, inserted is an A. L. s. of Kains-Jackson to Millard ("Stuart Mason"—Wilde's bibliographer) and a typewritten list of queries relative to the above MS. and Letter, with the answers in Stuart Mason's hand, original wrappers, uncut and unopened, 1894

with addressed envelope

- 616 WHISTLER (J. McN.) A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, 12 Nov., 1889, to C. J. Hanson, mentioning Walter Sickert, Anderson Rose and others, with envelope

- 617 WHISTLER (J. McN.) Four short A. L. s., to C. J. Hanson, mostly concerned with instructions as to Whistler's movements on the Continent, with three envelopes (4)

- 618 WILSON (John) "Christopher North," Eight A. L. s. 25 pp. 4to, August, 1803-34, to Robert Finlay (5), Mitchell of the "Tyne Mercury," the Rev. John Fleming and Miss Wilson:

As I feel certain that Wordsworth and other Gentlemen of his stamp would think proper to call 'impulse to write mid deepest Solitude.'

The letters to Finlay are fine and long confessing his love for Margaret Mitchelson.

- 619 WILCOX (Ella Wheeler) Auto. MS. signed of her Essay "Modern Cynics," 18 pp. 8vo, with numerous auto. corrections

- 620 WHITTIER (John Greenleaf) American Poet, Auto. MS. signed of his Poem "Plead for the Slave!" 3 stanzas of 7 lines each, 8vo, dated "Haverhill, Mss. 24th of 3rd M. 1834," apparently unpublished
- 621 WHITTIER (J. G.) BRIGHT (John) Statesman, Six A. L. s. 12 pp. 8vo, to C. E. Flower, Mayor of Stratford-on-Avon, and W. E. Onless, 1877 to 1887, relative to the poet Whittier:
- ... 'Snow Bound' is a poem which has given me great pleasure and I frequently turn to it with no less enjoyment than that I experienced when I first read it. There are lines in it which were much admired by your venerable mother during the last year of her life. It would please the Author of the Poem to know how much interest she had taken in what he had written. As a Poet, my friend Whittier has a great reputation in his own country, and I believe his position here (England) is continually improving. There is a goodness and a purity in his writings not exceeded in my view by any other poet in our language. Etc.
- 622 VERLAINE (Paul) Auto. MS. signed "P. V." of his Poem "Gosses," 1889, 6 pp. 8vo, 3 pp. in Verlaine's hand and 3 in that of his friend Cazals

- ... I care more for girls than boys, while you most likely care more for boys than girls. That is a fair division of labour as the arrangement between Jack Sprat & his wife.
- 624 DODGSON (C. L.) A. L. s. 2½ pp. sm. 8vo, Ch. Ch. Oxford, June 6/90, to Miss Cooper
- Hoping that she has received the "Nursery Alice" he is now sending the little book about letter-writing.
- 625 DICKENS (Charles) A. L. s. (third person) 1 p. 8vo, Tavistock House, 15 June, 1835
- Informing the Inspector of Police that he is going to have some theatricals on three evenings and wishes to have a constable in attendance from 7 to 12
- with Mr. Dickens' Visiting Card (2)
- 626 DICKENS (C.) A. L. (unfinished) 4 pp. 8vo, Devonshire Terrace, 17th April, 1846, to Madame de la Rue, a very fine letter chiefly on literary matters
- He refers to his unhappy connection with the "Daily News" of which newspaper he became the first editor: his commission to write Dombey and Son, and his forthcoming work Pictures of Italy, which was originally in the "Daily News" from January to March, 1846, where it appeared as a series of Travelling Letters written on the Road.

. . . I am exceedingly unsettled in my plans. I think I told you some-time ago—or I wrote it to De la Rue, I am not sure which, that I was not satisfied with the business managers of the newspaper. In the course of a little more time, I saw so much reason to believe that they would be the Ruin of what might otherwise have been made a very fine property, and that their proceedings would so commit and involve me, who had no power either of getting rid of them or controlling them—that I straightway stopped my letters, and walked bodily out of the concern . . . Pending their disputes and differences among themselves, I cannot very well leave town. But if the Paper should go by the board, then I shall be strongly disposed to do so, and to go abroad for another year. For I have engaged to produce a new story in twenty monthly parts, and I think I could write it more comfortably and easily, abroad, than at home . . . Against my coming away at all, there is the consideration that I am (nominally, God knows), a Law Student, and have a certain number of 'terms to keep' before I can be called to the Bar; and it would be well for me to recollect, as there are many little pickings to be got—pretty easily within my reach, which can only be bestowed on Barristers. Again, there is the consideration that the good people of England seem to be fonder of their favourite (your humble servant and physician) now, than ever; and that it might be a pity to run away from them, when they are so very kind. On the other hand if these people do ruin the Paper, I shall be very much annoyed, and would rather not have to be questioned and condoled with, and of all sorts of things, in all Kinds of society. Now every day (to the exclusion of almost all other occupation) I have been discussing the pros and cons of all these questions with Forster . . . I shall publish early next month, a little volume called "Pictures from Italy"—astonish the consul by telling him the title, and give him my regards. An early copy shall be got to you, by some means or other. You have been in my society these many days, for I have just finished Rome, and am now working back to Genoa. The greater part of the descriptions are written in letters to Forster, but the putting of them together, and making additions to them, and touching them up, is rather a long job. Etc.

- 627 DICKENS (C.) Manuscript of an Early Version of "Mr. Nightingale's Diary" by Mark Lemon, afterwards revised, altered and produced by Dickens, contained on some 66 pp. 4to, n. d. (c. 1849-50), unbound

An early version of the play before it was touched by Dickens. The farce was originally constructed by his friend Mark Lemon, editor of Punch; Dickens being in need of a piece for production by his Company of Strolling Players, persuaded Lemon to allow him to produce it, but Dickens made so many alterations to the little play whilst it was in course of rehearsal, introducing his own character of Captain Bobadill, etc., that the farce as now known is really more Dickens' than Lemon's. This manuscript of the original version is in an unknown hand.

- 628 DICKENS (C.) A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Royal Hotel, Manchester, 16th Oct. 1856, to H. B. MacPhail:

Your amazing letter . . . places me in a very distressing position. For Mr. John Rae Brown's lie to too monstrous and intolerable to be borne . . . A slander so infamous and so wantonly and inconceivably baseless, must positively be stopped short and punished.

- 629 DICKENS (C.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, Gad's Hill, 4 Oct. 1857, to Mrs. Carmichael Smyth :

Regretting that the story sent is unsuitable for Household Words, and goes on to give a detailed criticism.

- 630 DICKENS (C.) A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Gad's Hill Place, 15 Jan. 1870, to Mrs. Banks :

I have been much interested by your letter and am happy to retain the little poem enclosed in it for insertion.

Included in this lot are four Extra Christmas Numbers of All the Year Round, in original wrappers.

The Property of a Lady.

DICKENS (C.) A FINE SERIES OF A. L. S. ADDRESSED TO MISS EMILY JOLLY OF MINCHAMPTON, authoress of "Mr. Arle" :

- 631 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, 3 Albion Villas, Folkestone, 17 July, 1855 :

You manuscript entitled A Wife's Story has come under my own perusal within these last three or four days. I recognise in it such great merit and unusual promise, and I think it displays so much power and knowledge of the human heart, that I feel a strong interest in you as its writer . . . all my knowledge and experience, such as they are, lead me straight to the recommendation that you will do well to spare the life of the husband and one of the children . . .

- 632 A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, 3, Albion Villas, Folkestone, 21 July, 1855 :

I did not enter in detail on the spirit of the alterations I propose in your story; because I thought it right that you should think out that for yourself if you applied yourself to the change . . . When you finish your story send it to Mr. Wills. Besides being daily communication with him, I am at the office one a week; and I will go over it in print before the proof is sent you . . .

- 633 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Tavistock House, London, Christmas Eve, 1856 :

Constant occupation since the receipt of your book, has prevented my acknowledging it (as I ought to have done) weeks upon weeks ago to offer my penitent thanks. I have read it with much pleasure and find in it all the power that strongly influenced me when I first perused the story to which you refer . . .

- 634 A. L. s. 2½ pp. 8vo, Gravesend, Kent, 10th April, 1857 :

I can honestly encourage you and assure you that I believe the depression and want of confidence under which you describe yourself as labouring, to have no sufficient foundation. First as to Mr. Arle, I have constanly heard it spoken of with great approval and I think it a book of considerable merit . . .

- 635 A. L. s. 4 pp. 8vo, Tavistock House, 13 May, 1857 :

I read your story, with all possible attention, last night. I cannot tell you with what reluctance I write to you respecting it—for my opinion of it is not favorable, although I perceive great merit in it, and great strength . . . I do not think that its publication as it stands would do service, or be agreeable to you hereafter.

- 636 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Gad's Hill Place, 2nd Jan'y. 1864 :

I am so very much occupied and have so many claims upon my thought, that I really cannot undertake at this time to read your MS. Sensible of the confidence you would repose in me, it would haunt me if I had it in a drawer here . . .

- 637 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Office of All the Year Round, 6th July, 1865 :

You fall into a very natural mistake when you suppose that "half a word" from me to Messrs Chapman and Hall would ensure your being attended to favorably by that firm. Without entering into any explanation particularly distasteful to be I beg you to rely on my assurance that you are wholly in error on that point.

- 638 A. L. s. 1½ pp. 8vo, Office of All the Year Round, 22 July, 1869 :

My son . . . brought me this morning a story in MS with a request that I would read it. I read it with extraordinary interest, and was greatly surprised by its uncommon merit. On asking whence it came, I found that it came from you! . . . I congratulate you most sincerely and heartily on having done a very special thing . . .

- 639 A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, Office of All the Year Round, 21st Oct. 1869 :

. . . Your note leads me to fear that you have not sufficiently considered what you have to bear, if you publish a book. There is no help for it but to bear, or forswear authorship.

- 644 HOOD (Tom) A. L. s. "Theodore," 4 pp. 4to, Oct. 3, 1822, to Miss L. Reynolds to "My dear Lotty" :

A long gossiping letter mentioning Mrs. John Reynolds, Mr. Longmore, Eliza Jane, Marianne, etc. Gentle Maid Marianne making green tea as if for Robin Hood and smiling as if her heart drank cream and sugar. How the tea dimples in the cup and the urn sings for joy! Now if you look through the urn you will see your father smiling towards the sofa, and there is Rice, smiling towards 9 o'clock. How silyly the under half of the visage sneers at the upper gravity as if his nose were Garrick between Tragedy and Comedy, and how his jests come stealing seriously out.

- 645 HOOD (T.) 2 pp. 8vo. n. d. circa. 1836, to T. C. Grattan, Author and Traveller, all about his friendship with Charles Lamb :

A friend brought me over Lamb's Letters—and I though you would like to see then . . .

Lamb was an odd man and a shy one. It was necessary to know him to understand him,—To understand, to like him, but then you loved him. I was very intimate with him when his neighbour. We spent three evenings a week together at one house or the other, and I found him an excellent friend as well as the best of critics. The book was therefore a treat to me. I saw him to his grave . . . Perhaps you did not know his sister, a woman to redeem whatever's amiss, if there be anything amiss, in the rest of the sex. Etc.

- 646 HAWTHORNE (Nathaniel) A. L. s. 3 full pp. 8vo, Redcar, Yorkshire, 23 July, 1859, to Hillard :

Wanted to bid him welcome to Old England. His given up the idea of returning to America for some time to come.

Americans, methinks, are particularly liable to get out of sorts with their native land, my being long away from it, and it is now more than six years since the eddies bore me out of the Republican whirlpool. However, I suppose I must need plunge in again next year; meanwhile I have some literary occupation [The Romance of Monte Beni] which makes it worth while to indulge my inclination for a little longer stay in England . . . what a dreary height of heroism it would be to go back, on the very verge of a New England Winter! . . .

- 663 SHELLEY (Percy Bysshe) the Poet, copy of his letter in the handwriting of his wife, M. W. Shelley, to Mrs. Williams, 1½ pp. 4to, July 4th, 1822, written four days before he was drowned with Mr. Williams:

A letter of great intimacy and charm, a premonition of his approaching end. (and the letter to his wife of the same date—4 July 1822.) "You will probably see Williams before I can disentangle myself from the affairs with which I am now surrounded. I return to Leghorn tonight, and shall urge him to sail with the first fair wind without expecting me. I have thus the pleasure of contributing to your happiness, when deprived of every other—and of leaving you no other subject of regret, but the absence of one scarcely worth regretting. I fear you are solitary and melancholy at Villa Magin, and in the intervals of the greater and more serious distress in which I am compelled to sympathize here, I figure to myself the countenance which has been the source of such consolation to me, shadowed by a veil of sorrow . . . How soon those hours past, and how slowly they return, to pass as soon again, perhaps for ever, in which we have lived together so intimately and happily!—Adieu, my dearest friend—I only write these lines for the pleasure of tracing what will meet your eyes. Mary will tell you all the news. "S."

- * * This is the last letter (but one—to his wife of the same date), published in Ingpen's Letters of Shelley, 1895, and is therefore probably the last ever written by the poet.

- 664 ALEPPO. TREADWAY (Conway) Merchant, twenty Letters signed, from Aleppo, 1684-86, to John Wise of London. By the ship Martha. T. Clap, Captain:

applications in a few days. Cannot extend his permission further than to Ring out wild Bells. Informs her that Mr. Cowie, head inspector of schools, intends to make a selection of Poetry for schools which Tennyson concludes will supersede all others. Etc.

- 667 TENNYSON (Lord) Poet, Series of five A. L. s. 7 pp. 8vo and 12mo, to the Lord Chamberlain, 14 June, 1851, presenting "the accompanying volumes" (The Princess and In Memoriam) to Her Majesty the Queen, endorsed:

Ansd. July 11, conveying the Queen's thanks; to the Duchess (of Argyle) Farringford, Isle of Wight, 11 April 1862, has been laid up with a cold but has written to Col. Biddulph saying he would call at Osborne at whatever hour and day the Queen appointed, and a letter has come fixing "3 o'clock on Monday next." "I am grieved that Her Majesty's message seems to imply that I ought to have written before. I am rather afraid of my interview with her Majesty—if anything be expected of me—feeling altogether powerless to give any real consolation to such sorrow as Hers."

To "Archie" Peel, n. d.:

Has just returned from town "having asked 13 people to dine here at six. Will you come and make 14 for some of us are superstitious?" To the Lord Chamberlain, 11 Mar. 1863, regrets he did not receive the entrance card till ten o'clock on the marriage morning. This refers to the marriage of the Prince of Wales—Edward.

To Mrs. BROWNING (E. B. B.) the Poetess, with addressed envelope:

All is going on as well as can be. How very grateful your little note and Browning's Epilogue made me. I began to read it to my wife but could not get on with it, so I put it away by her bedside and she shall read it as soon as she reads anything. Ever yours and your husbands. Etc. Relating to the birth of his second child (11 Aug. 1852) Henry Hallam Tennyson.

TENNYSON (Lady) Two A. L. in the third person, Greyskott Hall, 25 June, 1867, Farringford, I. of W. 2 June, 1876, to the Lord Chamberlain begging him to make Mr. & Mrs. Alfred Tennyson's dutiful excuses to the Queen as they are both prevented by indisposition from obeying Her Majesty's gracious commands (1) for this evening & (2) to attend the Ball on 3 June, with envelope franked by Lord Tennyson, four portraits and biography from The National Portrait Gallery

- 668 TEMPLE (Sir Peter and his son—Sir Richard) Thirty-six Letters and Documents signed, 1633 to 1676, addressed to Sir Robert Clayton. Bonds for various sums of money:

A Schedule of the names of the Creditors of Sir Peter Temple, deceased, which are to have share of the £7000 paid by Sir Richard Temple to the Trustees; An account (for Lady Christian Temple) of all such moneyes as have been received and paid by William Morton concerning Sir Peter Temple's Estate, 1650-1; Sir Richard Temple's Release to Sir Robert Clayton and Mr. Morris of a trust, 1676. Etc.

* * Sir Peter Temple (1592-1653) represented Buckingham in the last two Parliaments of Charles I.

- 669 TALMA (Francois) French Actor, Nine A. L. s., two L. s. and a Doc. s. 10 pp. 4to and folio, 1797 1826, to Colson, Vicomte de Courtivren, Thayer, (Talma's landlord), Mme. Stich, Mme. Caroline Talma (his wife), Ludovic Duponchel, M. de Romieu, M. Andrieux, Fosset, etc.

About acting at Lille and Brussels, his proposals to present Racine's Athalie with chorus, a new tragedy, at Paris, etc. "As I am taking Roman and Greek costumes for the Choruses . . . to Brussels we could use them at Lille. If you wish to play Athalie with chorus I should be able on my return to give a representation or two." The letter to Andrieux, the French Poet and Dramatist, is signed also by Mlle. Mars (the Actress), Bapristi and others, and states that the Comédie Française intends to stage Andrieux's comedy La Comedienne again. "The success of this never having been inferior to its very high merit," Etc.

- 670 SAINT PIERRE (B. de) Author of Paul et Virginie, A. L. s. 1 p. 8vo, 30 June, 1791, to Mme. Panckoucke :

Lieutenant du Petit-Thouars desires to go in search of the explorer La Perouse, and to make useful discoveries in navigation. Asks Panckoucke to give him all the publicity possible. He promises to start alone in a little boat by himself. "He is worthy by all accounts to march in the footsteps of Captain Cook his hero."

- 671 SAINT PIERRE (B. de) Four A. L. s. 8 pp. 4to and 8vo, to Mme. Panckoucke, 20 Dec. 1788 to 18 Dec. 1790 :

The new year will perhaps be very favourable to the sale of his new edition [of Paul et Verginie]. When the copies with plates are ready he will send two copies on vellum paper to her. "Je ne connais qu'une pierre de touche de l'amitié, c'est l'adversité. Je l'ai éprouvée et je me suis vu seul; il est vrai que depuis que mes ouvrages ont fait quelque bruit; j'ai trouvé sur mon chemin des ambitieux qui voulaient m'attacher a leur char et je les ai évités, je suis dans ma conduite les maximes que j'ai mises dans mes ouvrages, et notamment dans Paul et Verginie que vous aimez."

Announces the appearance of the Chaumière Indienne at the beginning of 1790. Asks her to insert in one of the next numbers of the Mercur the announcement of his new edition of Paul et Verginie, with the note on the error in the prospectus of the octavo edition at the end of the book, all in the name of "my publisher M. Didot le jeune," who only merits praise for the impression . . . since it is he who is deceived in the price announced. The Artists who designed the plates deserve praise. Etc.

- 672 ST. BARTHOLOMEW'S HOSPITAL. Nine Receipts each signed "Peter Moulson," 3rd Jan. 1659 to 5th July, 1665. Each for £10 6s. 8d. from Mistress Betzie Abbot :

- 678 BLAKE (Wm.) ROSSETTI (D. G.) Seven A. L. s. to Mr. and Mrs.
 Gilchrist, Blake's biographer, 21 pp. 8vo, concerning Gilchrist's
 "Life of Wm. Blake": (7)

Which from quite an epoch in modern typographical issues, being perfect throughout and with no ostentation . . . The Life of Blake must keep his name, and I always thought the Etty an excellent book too, vigorous portraiture and relish Carlyle's note about it is very valuable. I believe your husband's style as a writer was making advances even to the last. I well remember a very striking article of his on Scott's Northumbrian series of pictures. Herbert's two illustrations look very thorough and must do him credit. And how much that true enthusiast Shields has done for the new edition! The cover is most noble and all his contributions admirable whether with pen or pencil. He, like Blake, will be a great artist in the future. Etc. Thanks for your kind enquiry as to Dante's Dream. The price at which I originally sold it was 1500 guineas, and I ought not to lower the price.
 I think you know that it came into my hands again not through any dissatisfaction of the the purchaser, but because he found it too large to hang conveniently.

- 679 HUGO (Victor) Seven A. L. s. 8 pp. 4to, etc., to Mme. Juliette Lormeaux, Proth, etc.

Thanks Proth for his articles on Les Misérables "tout un livre. C'est le cri d'une ame. C'est en même temps la condensation en quelques pages de toute la grande pitié humaine . . . et moi, vieux solitaire sur mon rocher, j'ai cette faiblesse, je dirais presque j'ai cette grandeur, j'aime qu'on m'aime." Introduces Mme. Clarisse Portalis . . . j'introduise près de vous une jeune femme qui a été figurante dans Ruy Blas, ou elle a même joué le petit rôle du page! . . . Elle a joué en province, mais redescendrait au rôle de figurante pourvu que ce fut au Théâtre Française. Etc. Je vous ai envoye l'Année Terrible il y a six mois; permettez-moi de compléter l'envoi par le livre Actes et Paroles qui en est comme la commentaire. Will be glad to meet Lady Pollack, Etc., Etc.

- 681 BRONTË (Charlotte) A FINE A. L. s. 3½ pp. 8vo, Haworth, June 21st, 1853, to Miss Holmes:

. . . I should say yours was a somewhat unequal character and judgment—as indeed is proved by the single fact of your conversion to Romanism.

That is a most naive confession of yours about "the pious Catholic" living with a Protestant friend or partner in constant horror of his or her errors, and dread of the misery in a future life. All the essence of Popish bigotry—the whole secret and spirit of persecution lies in that admission. Under such circumstances proselytism becomes a duty—persecution even to the death—a virtue. Slay the body to save the soul . . .

- 682 DICKENS (Charles) A. L. s. 2 pp. 8vo, 1, Devonshire Terr., 8 June, 1849, to C. H. Bracebridge:

. . . I beg to thank you, firstly for your kind note, secondly for the equitable Poors' Rate Advocate (which I shall immediately study) . . .

- 685 MACKENZIE (Henry) Author of The Man of Feeling, 1745-1831.
The Auto. MS Rough Draft of his "Anecdotes and Egotisms," first published in 1927, 185 pp. folio, 4to and 8vo, small folio, half brown morocco

This Draft differs considerably from the published version and has many references to Shakespeare, etc. It is divided into sub-headings: Manners and Occupations; Comfort, quoting the Poet Burns: Scepticism, Contradiction, Sympathy, Metaphysics . . . In Shakespeare it has a different sense from what it bears in the School, he expresses by ye word metaphysical anything beyond out of nature 'metaphysical aid,' in Macbeth is used to signify the magic of the Witches. Music . . . Johnson's Epitaph on Goldsmith expresses something like this. Moliere by far the greatest of French Comic Writers wants that sort of humour which his English rival (Shakespeare) gives to the Persons of his Dramas. Instances Falstaff, Malvolio, Jaques. Shakespeare, his power of marking 'the silent march of thought.' One might make a long list of what might be called the Puerilities of Shakespeare, which we never think of censuring, redeemed as they are by a thousand Beauties wh. it is singular are so much in their neighbourhood, that it seems odd how the same Author would have produced both of them. The Exuberance of his fancy revelled in this sort of indulgence which neither his own Taste nor that of his Age were sufficient to correct. "Pope dressed his shepherds in embroidery." Etc. Etc.

* * A MS. OF CONSIDERABLE INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE.

- 686 MACKENZIE (H.) Eighteen A. L. s., Drafts, Documents, etc., quoting Shakespeare, Dr. Johnson, Benjamin Franklin, and Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations, folio, half brown morocco

His Second Letter to Mr. Carmichael (the United States Minister to Spain), 1781. 11pp. 4to. Refers to "our native Bard." Scotland in the Language of M'Duff stands as it did. Gives details of the "New Town of Edinburgh." Speaks of Scottish Literature: The brilliant Era seems rather to be past, tho' the Talent of Writing, as well as the Idea of Publication, is now become infinitely more universal than it was 20 or 30 years ago . . . Dr. Smith whom I reckon the first of our writers, both in point of Genius and Information, is now revising both his Theory of Moral Sentiments, and his Essay on the Wealth of Nations . . .

There was published in the year 1778 and 1780, a performance of a kind quite novel here, a Periodical work after the manner of the Spectator, of which I had the Conduct, entitled The Mirror, which the Public have . . . stamped with an approbation beyond my most sanguine expectation, as it has already gone thro' 5 Editions . . . I wish to send you a copy. Refers to the establishment of the Royal Society at Edinburgh, "Of whom your great Franklin" is a member. Etc.

This letter is in the hand of an amanuensis but is corrected by Mackenzie.

Auto. Draft of his Letter to Wm. Pitt, 3 pp. 4to, Mar., 1792 :

Thanking him for his letter praising his "Review of the Principal Proceedings of the Parliament of 1784." and for the valuable additions the great Statesman made to it.

Auto. Draft of his Letter to Lord Melville, 4 pp. 4to, 20th June, 1806, Relating to his acquittal and his idea of writing a Life of Pitt.

Two A. L. s. 7 pp. on his (Mackenzie's) faculty of composing during dreams, etc.

Auto. Draft of Letter to (SIR) WALTER SCOTT, 3 pp. 4to, 5 July, 1819 :

My D(ear) S(cott)

From a letter recd. by my Daughter May from your Daughter, we were happy to learn that you are now so much better, as that she hopes with a little care and attention, your health will be quite re-established. I have been very ill indeed . . . During ye intervals of this incapacitating Malady, I escaped from its lighter effects, by the opportune perusal of the 3rd. Series of the Tales of my Landlord, wh. carried me away from my own feelings to sympathise with those fictitious ones so admirably described in that Book. Now tho' I dare not say you are the Author of those Tales, yet as you take a Concern in their publication, it may be gratifying to ye Author and to you, to know what a powerful lenitive they proved to a poor old Invalid; who could once write fictitious Tales, however inferior to those in question. I can sincerely assure you I followed the technical Apothecary's direction his scrimondum and read them a second time since I have been so much better . . . as to be able to read them with more attention. Speaks of Terry's the Actor's success.

A. L. s. (initials) 3 pp. folio, 23 Aug. 1822

Draft of his letter to the Lord Chief Commissioner. On the Highland Society's address to his Majesty upon his accession to the throne, drawn up by Mackenzie, and to his inability through illness of paying his humble duty to His Majesty at the time.

Mackenzie's Auto. note at end, stating than an answer came in two days requesting a copy of his life (of Home) sent to the King, which Mackenzie sent together with Home's History of the Rebellion. Mackenzie edited John Home's Works, adding a Life, in 1822.

A. L. s. 3 pp. 4to, Canaan Lodge, 19 June, 1825, to Constable, Scott's publisher :

Thanks for the opportunity of reading The Crusaders which he admires: "I could scarcely intermit a moment between the Story of the Betrothed and my perusal of it. It has, I again repeat, afforded me the greatest delight. In this work the Illustrious Author of Waverley has equalled the best of his former Productions. He has brought his Reading and extensive knowledge of Ancient Lore, and of chivalrous manners, to bear on the richest ground of Feeling and Imagination and created an interest in the Reader of the warmest kind. The characters are drawn with the happiest Pencil, Sentiments expressed in the most appropriate language, diversify'd with the richest Colouring. If I can pretend to any literary skill, or any Authorlike prediction, I will venture to foretell the Work's most brilliant success. I think it will interest the skill of the critic, as the Heart of the Feeling . . . I hope the Author of Waverley will put some Value on this most impartial suffrage on one of whose mind has often been delighted, and his weak and disordered body has been soothed by a Perusal of his Works. He may be assured that amidst the failure of Health, and ye weakness of declining age, Henry M'Kenzie can still feel the transcendent Merit of his Works . . . You have my leave to communicate this unbiased . . . opinion of the Betrothed. I shall be proud if it can gratify him . . . I set out for—on Monday, to which place I take the story of the Talisman, as soon as I return . . . I will give you my candid opinion of this Tale. Etc.

Together with A. L. s. and Doc. s. of members of Mackenzie's family including his father Joshua, relative to the Jacobite Rebellion of 1745, his son Lord Henry Mackenzie, the Original Grants of the Freedom City of Aberdeen and Inverness to Mackenzie, Lord W. Seymour, discussing Dr. Johnson's prejudices against Macpherson's "Ossian," etc.

- 689 MACKENZIE (H.) Transcripts of 114 Letters to his cousin, Miss (afterwards) Mrs. Rose of Kilravock, circa 1840, about 100 pp. 4to, half brown morocco

Of considerable Literary interest. The Originals have apparently been destroyed. Events and prominent people of the 18th Century are discussed at some length.

Among the subjects mentioned are Shakespeare, Edmund Spenser, Pope, Dryden Gray, Smollett, General Wolfe's death, Allan Ramsay, Adam Smith's Wealth of Nations, Shenstone, etc. "A Poet after Shakespeare and another after Young might write a Tragedy on the fatal effects of jealousy without being a plagiarist . . . Young has the advantage of Shakespeare, that Zanga's motive is more strongly mark'd, the want of which in a certain degree is a fault, that all my partiality for the great Master of the part cannot make me overlook in the part of Iago . . . How do I envy Dr. Goldsmith his subject of the Deserted Village . . . I do not remember that you recommended Goldsmith's Deserted Village to me . . . There wanted only some thunder and lighting to make it (the night) a Lear's one." Quotes Julius Caesar: "There is a tide in the affairs of men . . . I, as well as The Vicar of Wakefield (Goldsmith) am particularly delighted with happy faces. The character of a female Pedant from Fielding downwards . . . About The Fool of Quality and Adventures of a Guinea. Allan Ramsay . . . I can only parodize the exclamation of Lear, 'Why should a Cat, a Rat, a Dog, have life?' . . . Rousseau's Pygmalion if it be really Rousseau's is such a performance as he might have written in his sleep . . . Mr. Nicholson Stewart lately exhibited his Richard III . . . His idea of the part was good and in some places very well express'd, but this outline wanted filling up, and the power of his voice particularly fail'd him in the execution of his conceptions, nor did he in general give to the mind a portraiture of the ferocious, sanguinary Richard . . . Since I wrote you I have been two or three times with Dr. Johnson. I found him possessed of all the powers of conversation . . . There is an accuracy in his style and a boldness in his figures (for he talks much in figures) wh. are the property of few: there is great morality in his sentiments and force in his Decisions; but the first are often more originally expressed than conceiv'd and the last sometimes confidently pronounced without the deduction of argument. His wisdom is dogmatical and his wit unfeeling. After all however in vigor of Faculties and command of expression he is an extraordinary man; and tho' there is no winning quality about him, his company is well worth courting to enjoy his conversation being simple and clear. Johnson's Tour to the Highlands is now published, but no copy of it has yet reach'd Edinburgh, except one which Boswell got down by post. I understand it is just what I understood it to be with regard to Ossian, allowing no merit to the Poems at any rate, and strenuously denying their originality. The Gentle Shepherd (Allan Ramsay) is the chef d'oeuvre in its way. There never was perhaps inspiration equal to Shakespear's. We have had lately some of his scenes curiously interpolated with modern sings to give an opportunity for the display of Colley's singing, wh. met wt. a very favourable reception here. Your friend the Duchess was the great first mover of his and like Sir John Falstaff not only gay herself but the cause of gaiety in others. This only serves to introduce to Mr. Burns, the Celebrated Ayrshire Poet, of whom I have written more fully in a letter by Post wh. will reach you several days before this, as he and his fellow-traveller, Mr. Nicoll make a pretty long circuitous Tour. Not forgetting the two Nymphs of the Castle as Mr. Burns wd. say.

690 MACKENZIE (H.) Transcripts of Letters from Samuel Rogers, the Banker-Poet, to Mackenzie:

As to the verses written by Queen Mab [Shelley] (for I suspect the writer to be no less a personage), they are really wonderful . . . Grasshopper's song is worthy of Ariel himself . . . and Burns might have been proud of them. Columbus returns his best compliments, etc. . . . Mrs. Siddons from a discreet regard to her amplitude of person, begs leave to decline a comparison with this actor from Lilliput (Henry West Betty—the Young Roscius. Mentions Scott's Lay of the Last Minstrel, which is in the press. About the young Roscius' acting. His acting may now be compared to painting in water-colours—by and by it will acquire more force and body . . . Mrs. Siddons has retired to Hampstead for her health . . . I heard her read the trial scene in the Merchant of Venice the other night with great effect . . . Mr. Pitt has become a playgoer, and Mr. Jose, with whom I saw him (Betty) in Hamlet, thought his acting during the Play better than Garricks.

The originals of these transcripts appear to be lost

691 MACKENZIE (H.) A. L. s. 2 pp. 4to, in French, 28 Nov., 1821, to Hope, an interesting literary letter on the Journal of Baron de Grimm, Jean Jacques Rousseau whose genius made such noise and who thought he was more persecuted than he was:

"l'Apologie pour quelques livres scandaleux surtout ses Confessions, dont le libertinage et l'obsenité sont degoutants, est un espèce de folie d'enfant d'un vanité sans bornes, qui se representoit tout le monde occupé de Rousseau, que Rosseau avoit toujours raison, et que tout le monde avoit tort . . . Jean Jacques etait fol de lui-même, et certaines bonnes femmes étoient folles de Rousseau. Grimm's remarks on the dramatic author's of England and France: Corneille, de Racine, et de Voltaire, en comparaison avec nôtre célébré Shakspeare. Le Baron . . . Monte combien la connaissance des Ouvrages de Shakespeare, dernièrement acquise en France, influoit sur les Drame du theatre françois. Le tribus de louange a Shakespeare de M. Grimm est estimable par son bon sens aussi bien que son inqenuité, et par sa candeur, tant soit peu favorable aux François, mais sensibles aux merites de notre grand poète, sans les louanges, un peu extravagantes de M. Schiller, l'ami intime de Madame de Staehl . . .

Hughenden Manor.

- 702 DISRAELI (BENJAMIN, EARL OF BEACONSFIELD) THE AUTOGRAPH MANUSCRIPT OF "LOTHAIR," in 3 vol., approx. 525, 520 and 505 pp. 4to (9 in. by 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.), written almost entirely on one side of each sheet only, there are apparently three pages missing, unbound

* * * This novel was originally written in 1869. It was actually published on Monday, May 2nd, 1870. 5000 copies were sold before publication, and by October 80,000 had been sold by Messrs. Appleton in America.

- 703 DISRAELI (B.) THE AUTOGRAPH MANUSCRIPT OF "ENDYMION," in 3 vol. approx. 560, 490 and 390 pp. 4to (9 in. by 7 $\frac{1}{4}$ in.), clearly written on one side of each sheet, with occasional interpolations, etc. on opposite page, unbound

* * * This novel was begun in 1872-3, laid aside under pressure of public affairs, and finished in 1880. Disraeli received for it from Longman's £10,000, up to then the highest price paid for a work of fiction. It was Disraeli's last complete novel, and published in his 76th year. Among other characters portrayed are George Smythe, Palmerston, Lady Jersey, Sidney Herbert, the Rothschilds, Cardinal Manning and finally Napoleon III and Bismarck
